You may be aware that Adelaide is hosting a major workplace safety conference on Tuesday, July 29, 2008, specifically tailored to suit professionals in the resource and construction industries.

To be held at the Hilton Adelaide, “In it for the long haul: Sustaining HSE&C in Resources & Construction” is a one-day conference for industry professionals focusing on occupational health, safety, environment and community issues.

The conference will canvass a broad range of health and safety topics, including the latest regulatory requirements, well-being programs for employees, and environmental and security considerations in the workplace. Guest presentations will include:

AFL BOSS TO DISCUSS DRUG CODE

AFL Chief Executive Officer Andrew Demetriou is among the impressive line-up of guest speakers booked for the conference, with the football boss to discuss player/employee welfare and the League's controversial drug code.

HOW TO IDENTIFY SIGNS OF DEPRESSION

Therese Fitzpatrick from beyondblue will address the conference to talk about how depression – which affects more than one million Australians every year – is impacting on workplaces across the country.

DESALINATION PLANTS AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Desalination plants and their impact on the environment will be put under the spotlight by Allan Nisbet from Osmoflo. In particular, he will provide an overview of water treatment and environmental challenges faced in the design and installation of the desalination plant at Ranger Uranium in the Northern Territory.

The conference will also feature many practical examples of corporate strategies tackling HSE&C issues, including presentations by senior representatives of BHP Billiton, Phoenix Copper, Worley Parsons, Thiess, Sparke Helmore, Fluor Australia, Corporate Health Group, Marlow Communications, United Group, Vedior Asia Pacific, Boral, John Nitschke Drilling and the Whyalla Economic Development Board.

*This is a carbon neutral event & part proceeds of the conference will be donated to the Royal Flying Doctor Service.

We look forward to welcoming you to the conference, which is promising to be another successful event!
